

Grafton Riverbeat

March Events & Things to do

The end of February was a weekend of transitions with the eagles floating by on the ice and the pelicans arriving again. There still are eagles around for now, the trees along the riverbank are a favorite landing spot for them. The little owl in the tree at the Visitor's Center had everyone amazed that never saw it before and especially during the daytime. Many visitors had never seen an owl in the wild before. Grafton is a bird watchers paradise!
